

Photos by Berni Ernst

Senior Airman Ryan Young, 90th Missile Maintenance Squadron, is helped by members from the Warren Fire Department June 14 during the Comanche Warrior Exercise/CAPEX rehearsal. Airman Young played the part of an injured truck driver whose fuel tanker collided with a payload transporter. The Capabilities Demonstration Exercise took place Tuesday through Thursday with the same scenario. Tech. Sgt. Samantha Perez, 90th Medical Operations Squadron, did Airman Young's moulage for the exercise.

Warren hosts CAPEX rehearsal, Comanche Warrior

Members from the Department of Energy prepare the simulated weapon for transportation during the Comanche Warrior/CAPEX exercise June 15 here.

Airman 1st Class Thomas Adams, 790th Missile Security Forces Squadron, protects the site during the Comanche Warrior exercise/CAPEX rehearsal June 14 here. The Capabilities Demonstration Exercise held Tuesday to Thursday demonstrated the United States' ability to respond to a nuclear weapons accident.

Explosive ordnance technicians put finishing touches on the initial packaging of the simulated weapon June 15 during the Comanche Warrior/CAPEX rehearsal. Left is Senior Airman Sarah Burrill from the 341st Civil Engineer Squadron out of Malmstrom Air Force Base, Mont. In the middle is Staff Sgt Dave Csizmar from the 90th Civil Engineer Squadron. Right is Airman 1st Class Andrew Krueger also from the 90 CES.